

MISSION

The Association of California Community and Energy Services (ACCES) comprise Community Action Agencies, Community Based Organizations, non-profit and for-profit organizations which provide services to low income households throughout California. Our members operate a variety of programs including Community Services Block Grant Low Income Home Energy Assistance Program, administered by the State Department of Community Services and Development, and the Low Income Energy Efficiency Programs administered by the California Public Utilities Commission. Our members work to insure that all low income Californians have adequate access to resources intended to help them.

PROJECTED GOALS

It is imperative to have a common understanding of what is meant by the “green economy”. This clarification is necessary in order to understand why legislative initiatives are important, what industries play a part in the world of green technologies, and what entities might be able to access funding for green initiatives. Identifying the gaps in the infrastructure is important to ensure that a green divide is not inadvertently created.
